PREFACE

This is one of a series of volumes presenting final results of the 1958 Census of Business. Statistics for Retail Trade are contained in two volumes—Volume II and this volume. The 1958 Census of Business, covering Retail Trade, Wholesale Trade, Selected Services, and Public Warehousing, was authorized by law under Title 13 U.S.C. Previous business censuses covered the years 1929, 1933, 1935, 1939, 1948, and 1954.

The cooperation of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and the Internal Revenue Service of the Treasury Department in permitting use of certain of their records was important to the conduct of the 1958 Census of Business. This cooperation made it possible to conduct the census at a materially lower cost than would otherwise be the case and also made it unnecessary for a large number of business establishments to prepare special census reports.

The Bureau of the Census also acknowledges the advice and counsel made available through the Census Advisory Committees of the following organizations during the planning phase of the Census: the American Marketing Association; the American Retail Federation; the American Statistical Association; the Newspaper Advisory Committee, composed of representatives from the major associations in the newspaper industry; and similar assistance from many other private and public organizations. The Bureau also wishes to acknowledge the excellent cooperation of business firms in completing the required census forms.

Timely publicity given to the Business Census by chambers of commerce, business organizations, trade papers, local newspapers, and television and radio stations aided greatly in informing businessmen of the nature and objectives of the census and facilitated the collection of census reports.

Primary responsibility for the 1958 Census of Business program was centered in the Business Division of the Bureau of the Census, under the direction of Harvey Kailin, Chief, and Louis Greenberg, Assistant Chief, Programs. The Census program was under the direct supervision of Henry Wulff, Chief of the Census Program Branch. Robert C. Viehman was Chief, and Gerald Post, Assistant Chief of the Retail Trade Section. They were assisted by Philip M. Chenoweth, Mary E. Lawrence, C. Daniel Bremer, John C. Brown, Jr., Mabel N. Foster, and Grace H. Sawyer. Staff assistance was provided by Ralph S. Woodruff, Assistant Division Chief, Research and Methodology, Frank A. Cirillo, Chief, County Business Patterns and Special Surveys Branch, and Max Shor, Chief, Program Research Branch.

Processing of the 1958 Census of Business reports was performed in the Economic Operations Division under the direction of M. D. Bingham, Chief. The processing was under the direct supervision of Irving Weiss, Assistant Chief, Processing, assisted by Max E. Van Horn, Charles Merzel, Donald E. Young, Wesley R. Grier, Bernard M. Kinney, and Ruth H. Mills. Systems and procedures were developed and supervised by Sol Dolleck, Assistant Chief, Systems, assisted by Samuel Schweid, Nathan Lesowitz, and Jack Margolis. Jack Scharff developed and supervised the electronic computer programming work, assisted by John S. Lannan. Quality control plans and procedures were developed and supervised by Herman H. Fasteau, assisted by George Minton, and Alfred J. McKeon. Scheduling, progress reporting, and related staff work were supervised by Wilbur J. Mathias and Margaret R. Rommel.

The Electronic Systems Division under Robert F. Drury, Chief, provided electronic computation services. Rudolph M. Micol and James W. Shores supervised the scheduling and operation of equipment; Edgar D. Morgan and William M. Gaines supervised equipment engineering and maintenance; and Mrs. Dorothy P. Armstrong supervised general-purpose computer programming activities.

Other divisions and offices of the Bureau which contributed to the various phases of the census were: (1) the Machine Tabulation Division, C. F. Van Aken, Chief: Joseph S. Pewterbaugh and Emil Gorgovits developed techniques and procedures; and Frank McGrath, assisted by Emma Gass, supervised the card punching; (2) the Geography Division, William T. Fay, Chief: Robert Klove and Robert Hagan, Assistant Chiefs, assisted by Toshi Toki, supervised the preparation of the maps and charts and participated in the devising of procedures for geographic allocation of reports; (3) the Administrative Service Division, Everett H. Burke, Chief: Robert H. Brooks, Chief, Graphics Branch, was responsible for preparing Census of Business publications for reproduction; (4) the Statistical Reports Division, Edwin D. Goldfield, Chief, and William Lerner, Assistant Chief: Sheldon Klein, Chief, Presentation Practices Branch, and Julia Moring reviewed all table forms and text material and assisted on publication problems; (5) the Office of the Chief Economic Statistician, Julius Shiskin: Harold T. Goldstein was responsible for the preparation of kind-of-business coding manuals; (6) the Bureau of the Census Operations Office at Jeffersonville, Ind., Robert D. Krook, Executive Officer, where many of the Census processing operations were conducted; (7) the Personnel Division, James P. Taff, Chief; and (8) the Budget and Management Division, Charles H. Alexander, Chief.

Volume VI. SELECTED SERVICES-AREA STATISTICS

United States summary and separate chapters for each State, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, and the Virgin Islands showing, by kind of business, data on number of establishments, receipts, payroll, personnel, and number of proprietors. Detailed kind-of-business data are provided for each State, for each standard metropolitan statistical area, and for each county and city with 200 or more service establishments. In addition, data for less detailed kind-of-business groupings are shown for all counties and for each city of 2,500 or more inhabitants. (Chapters also are issued as separate reports in series BC58-SA.)

Volume VII. CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT REPORTS

Central business district (CBD) statistics are published in a series of separate reports for each of 97 selected standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's) and a summary report; designated as Volume VII. Each individual CBD report provides data for central business districts in the specified cities having 100,000 or more inhabitants and for major retail centers in the SMSA covered, as well as for the central city, the central city exclusive of the central business district, the SMSA exclusive of the central business district. Each report contains comparative 1958 and 1954 data on number of establishments, volume of sales (or receipts), and annual payroll, and 1958 employment for all retail stores and about 25 kinds of retail business, and for hotels and motion picture theaters. (Reports are issued in series BC58-CBD.)

INTRODUCTION

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

The 1958 Census of Business along with the 1958 Censuses of Manufactures and Mineral Industries was required by law under 13 U.S.C., sections 131 and 224. These censuses covered businesses operated in the continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. A separate Census of Business and Manufactures for 1958 was also conducted in Puerto Rico jointly with the Commonwealth Government.

The 1958 Census of Business covered Retail Trade, Wholesale Trade, Selected Services, and Public Warehousing. This report provides findings for that portion of the 1958 Census of Business which relates to Retail Trade. The figures in this report were issued previously in Retail Trade Summary reports, Series BC58-RS.

KINDS OF BUSINESS COVERED

This report covers all establishments included in retail trade in accordance with the principles of the 1957 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual issued by the Bureau of the Budget, Executive Office of the President. Also included are retail liquor stores operated by State and local governments. (See KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS for definitions of the kind-of-business categories for which data are shown in this report.)

METHOD OF ENUMERATION

For purposes of coverage in the 1958 Census of Business, retail establishments were divided into two categories—those with some paid employment during 1958, i.e., the "employer" universe, and those with no paid employment during 1958, i.e., the "nonemployer" universe. The method of obtaining census information for these two groups is described below:

Enumeration of "Employers."—Information for establishments in this part of the retail trade field was obtained by means of a mail canvass. Report forms were mailed to all business firms included in the active records of the Internal Revenue Service as subject to payment of Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxes (i.e., employers of one or more persons) and which were classified in the records of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance (BOASI) as wholly or partially engaged in retail, wholesale, manufacturing, and mineral industries. Also included were those classified in major groups 70 (except 702 and 704), 72, 73, 75, 76, 78, and 79 of the service industries portion of the SIC Manual, and in public warehousing, SIC major group 42, except 421. In addition, report forms were mailed to all establishments which BOASI had not classified by kind of business prior to mailing of census report forms. Each establishment was mailed a report form appropriate to its BOASI classification (for those cases for which BOASI classification had not yet been established, a general purpose form was used), but its census classification was determined by replies to questions on the census report form.

Enumeration of "Nonemployers."—This group was defined to include retail businesses other than those represented in the active FICA records of the Internal Revenue Service. Information for this group of establishments was derived from the 1958 Federal income tax returns. Information was compiled from only one-half of these cases and census results for this group were established by multiplying such findings by two. The "nonemployer" segment of retail trade, although made up of a large number of establishments, accounted for less than 10 percent of the total retail trade volume.

Included in this segment were only those nonemployer establishments which reported a sales volume of $2,500 or more during 1958. Nonemployer establishments reporting a sales volume of less than $2,500 were not included in these tabulations, regardless of the period of time they were operated during the year.

Enumeration of the Virgin Islands and Guam.—In the Virgin Islands and Guam only, the 1958 Censuses were taken by means of a field canvass conducted in 1959. Enumerators canvassed all roads and streets obtaining reports for all places where a business was found to have been conducted in 1958. In addition, the Virgin Islands records of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance were used in accounting for all businesses with paid employees in 1958. Business licenses of the Virgin Islands also were used as a check on coverage. Despite these precautions, it is possible that enumerators missed a few places which were not recognizable as business establishments.

COMPARISON OF THE 1954 AND 1958 CENSUSES

In all major respects, the 1954 and 1958 Censuses were conducted under similar conditions and procedures. Strict comparability in the data for the two censuses is limited by the following factors:

1. The physical area of a number of urban places in the 1958 Census is not the same as it was in 1954 because of annexations and other boundary changes which have occurred since the 1954 Census. This factor should be taken into consideration in evaluating changes in census findings from 1954, as in each census the statistics for urban places are in accordance with the boundaries for those places in the census year.

2. Whereas in the 1954 Census, "leased departments" (businesses operated as departments of a retail business, under different ownership) were counted as separate establishments and separately classified by kind of business, in the 1958 Census they have been combined with the retail business in which located. As a result, it is anticipated that the count of establishments will be approximately 25,000 less in the 1958 Census than would have been the case if the 1954 Census procedure had been followed. In addition, there will be some redistribution in the data among the various kinds of business categories (e.g., the figures for a leased shoe department located in a department store which were tabulated in the "shoe store" kind of business in 1954, are included with "department store" figures in the 1958 Census). Leased departments in the 1954 Census reported sales of approximately one billion dollars.

3. Revisions made in the 1957 edition of the SIC Manual have necessitated the following changes in establishment classifications used in the 1954 Census:

a. Musical instrument stores and music and record shops have been shifted to the kind-of-business group "Furniture, Home Furnishings, Equipment Stores" from the group "Other Retail Stores."

b. Antique stores have been shifted to the group "Other Retail Stores" from the group "Furniture, Home Furnishings, Equipment Stores."

4. Both the 1954 and 1958 Censuses excluded those businesses with no paid employment which had sales volume of less than $2,500 in the census year. To the extent that price increases since 1954 resulted in increases in the dollar volume of sales, the 1958 Census includes stores with a lesser physical volume of business than were included in the 1954 Census. While the exact magnitude of this phenomenon is unknown, the effect on total volume of retail sales undoubtedly is only a fraction of one percent and probably has little effect on the number of stores included in the census.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with census law, any data which would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business organization are not published. The number of establishments in a kind of business is not considered a disclosure by these rules, so that this item is shown in instances where other items of information for the same kind of business or locality are suppressed.

The subject chapters of this volume comprise the statistical portions of previously published subject reports (series BC58-RS). Discrepancies in the figures in this report identified after the tabulation process have been eliminated only in those portions of the table which they significantly affect. This procedure can result in minor differences internally in these tables as well as in other reports of the 1958 Census of Business.

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

GENERAL SUMMARY

Sales.—The volume of retail trade for 1958 as reported in the Business Census reached a new high of almost $200 billion, an increase of over 300 percent from the $47.8 billion reported in the Census for the year 1929. The increase in physical volume of sales from 1929, as roughly approximated by deflating 1958 sales by the change in consumer price level, using the Department of Labor Consumer Price Index, was 148 percent. In the same period—1929 to 1958—population increased 42 percent, from 121,770,000 to 173,232,000. On a per capita basis, unadjusted for price level, sales in retail establishments were about $392 in 1929 compared with $1,152 in 1958. After adjustment for price changes the per capita sales in 1929 amounted to about $535 compared with $933 in 1958.

Comparing the years 1929 and 1958, there was little difference in the percentage of "personal income" expended in making purchases from retail establishments. In 1929 the volume of sales equaled 55.7 percent of personal income and in 1958, was 55.5 percent. The 1958 percentage, however, was a decrease from the 59.1 percent in 1954 and 61.7 percent in 1948.

The 1958 retail trade total of almost $200 billion compares with $170 billion in 1954, an increase of 17.5 percent. Adjusted for price changes, the increase was 9.2 percent. In the same period the population increased about 7.5 percent. Unadjusted per capita sales were $1,152 in 1958 as compared with $1,054 in 1954, an increase of just over 9 percent.

Table A presents these and other significant facts for the major census years.

¹Bureau of the Census estimates as of July 1 of each year.

Employment and Payroll.—The employment in retail establishments during the workweek ended nearest November 15, 1958, represented 15.6 percent of the annual average number of employees in nonagricultural establishments as compared with 14.7 percent in 1954. During the workweek ended nearest November 15, 1958, retail trade establishments employed a total of 7,911,081 persons, an increase of 11 percent, or 786,750 employees, since 1954. The payroll for the entire year for all retail establishments totaled $21.6 billion, an increase of $3.4 billion or 18.6 percent since 1954. The retail kinds of business with the greatest number of employees in 1958 were "eating places" with 1,312,587 employees, "grocery stores, including delicatessens" with 976,439, and "department stores" with 807,721. These kinds of business were also the leading employers in 1954, in which year they had 1,055,806, 824,809, and 734,920 employees, respectively.

In total payroll for the entire year, the leading kinds of business in 1958 were "grocery stores, including delicatessens" with $2,649,356,000, "passenger car dealers, franchised" with $2,484,510,000, and "eating places" with $2,480,808,000. Department stores, which were third in total number of employees, had the fourth highest annual payroll, $2,217,918,000. In using these figures, it should be noted that the workweek ended nearest November 15 is a period in which many retail kinds of business are approaching their peak sales and employment for the year and that average payments computed from these data are strongly weighted by the inclusion of considerable temporary part-time help. This is especially true of "department stores" and other kinds of business which are markedly affected by the Christmas shopping season.

Table B presents data on total number of employees for the workweek ended nearest November 15 in 1958 and 1954, and payroll, entire year for the years 1958 and 1954 for each major kind-of-business group and for the more important kinds of business.

Payroll-to-Sales Ratios.—The ratio of annual payroll to sales for total retail trade in 1958 was 11.5 percent—the same as in 1954. The stability of this payroll to sales ratio between 1954 and 1958 was evident for most kinds of business. For "grocery stores, including delicatessens" and "gasoline service stations" the ratios were identical in the two years. "Department stores" showed a decrease of two tenths of one percent, while the "automotive dealers group" increased by two tenths of one percent. The biggest change among the more important kinds of business was experienced in "eating places," which rose from 23.3 percent in 1954 to 24.3 percent in 1958.

Table C presents the annual payroll for 1958 and 1954 and the payroll to sales ratios for each major kind-of-business group and for the more important kinds of business.

Distribution of Sales by Kind of Business.—In general, there were no marked trends in retail sales among the various kinds of business between 1954 and 1958.

"Food stores," as has been the case in every Census of Retail Trade, constituted the largest single group of retailers. This group accounted for 24.6 percent of all sales by retail establishments in 1958 as compared with 23.4 percent in 1954. "Grocery stores, including delicatessens," which made 89.1 percent of the sales of the "food stores" group, accounted for 21.9 percent of all sales by retail establishments in 1958 as compared with 20.5 percent in 1954.

"Automotive dealers" remained the second largest group of retailers in dollar volume of sales despite a decrease in their percentage of total sales from 17.6 percent in 1954 to 15.9 percent in 1958. "Gasoline service stations" increased their proportion of total retail sales from 6.3 percent in 1954 to 7.1 percent in 1958.

The "general merchandise group stores" retained their position as the third largest group, accounting for 11.0 percent of all sales by retail establishments in 1958. In 1954, this group accounted for 10.5 percent of all sales. A part of this increase was due to the difference in handling of "leased departments" in the two censuses (see Introduction, "Comparison of the 1954 and 1958 Censuses of Business"). To some extent the increase in the proportion of retail sales accounted for by "general merchandise group stores" is the result of minor definitional differences which had the effect of classifying more stores as department stores.

The only other group to show a significant increase in their share of total sales of retail establishments was the "drug, proprietary stores" which accounted for 3.4 percent of the total in 1958 as compared with 3.1 percent in 1954.

Data for these and other kinds of business for the years 1948, 1954, and 1958 are shown in table D and figure 1.

GEOGRAPHIC DISTRIBUTION ON RETAIL SALES

State Distribution.—Again in 1958, as in 1954 and every previous census, New York State showed the largest volume of retail sales. It was followed by California, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas, Michigan, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Florida. All States in the first ten, except Florida which replaced Missouri in tenth place, retained their 1954 positions. Florida was 12th among the States in volume of retail sales in 1954. Table E lists the States in alphabetical order and shows their rank by volume of retail sales in the 1958, 1954, 1948, 1939, and 1929 Censuses.

There were considerable differences among the individual States in the percentage increase of sales from 1954 to 1958. The State of Florida, with an increase of 45.5 percent, showed the largest percentage increase of any State, followed by Arizona, New Mexico, California, and Utah with percentage increases of 41.1, 32.7, 25.5, and 26.8, respectively. Nevada, which ranked 2nd in 1954 in percentage increase in sales over the previous census, ranked 8th in 1958, and North Carolina, which ranked 5th in 1954, ranked 12th in 1958.

The States with the smallest percentage of increase were Wyoming, Michigan, Nebraska, Iowa, Rhode Island, and the District of Columbia, each of which showed an increase of less than 10 percent from 1954 to 1958. Of the 48 States and the District of Columbia in the conterminous United States, 19 exceeded the percentage change of the United States as a whole, while 29 and the District of Columbia showed smaller percentage increases than the average for the United States as a whole.

Table F and figure 2 presents these changes for each State, the District of Columbia, and for the conterminous United States.

Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas.—In total, the 188 Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas in the conterminous United States, for which data are presented in this census, include in their boundaries over 60 percent of the population and two-thirds of total dollar sales by retail establishments. The ten largest areas, measured in terms of retail sales volume, are the same in 1958 as they were in 1954. Within each of these areas, there has been a greater increase in sales for the area as a whole than for the central cities of the area; that is, the trend toward shopping in the suburbs has continued to be an important factor in the four-year period since the 1954 Census, just as it was in the period from 1948 to 1954.

Table G lists the 25 largest Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's) in the order of their 1958 sales volume and indicates the changes for each and for their central cities since 1954. Although, in a number of instances, there have been annexations to the central cities since 1954, in most cases these annexations consisted of areas which are largely residential and do not have a marked effect on the total volume of retail sales in this city.

The 1954 and 1958 data for the SMSA's are comparable and are based on the 1958 definition of the SMSA, except for Boston. It was not feasible to retabulate the 1954 data for Boston to the 1958 SMSA definition, consequently, the rate of increase shown is somewhat higher than would be the case if the data had been adjusted.

County Distribution.—In 1958 the 50 leading counties based on retail sales accounted for 38.0 percent of the conterminous United States total, as compared with 38.5 percent in 1954, and 39.1 percent in 1948. The independent cities of Baltimore and St. Louis, which are not located in any county, are treated as counties in these computations. Changes among the ten leading counties were the addition of Nassau County, N.Y., in 9th place, the dropping of Queens County, N.Y. to 10th, and of Suffolk County, Mass. to 12th. Orange County, Calif.; Maricopa County, Ariz.; Santa Clara County, Calif.; Suffolk County, N.Y.; and Union County, N.J. were added to the 50 leading counties since the 1954 Census.

Table H lists the 50 counties with the largest retail sales volume according to their 1958 rank.

Central Business Districts.—In 1958, the Central Business Districts accounted for a smaller proportion of the retail store sales in the SMSA's, of which they were a part, than they did in 1954. A similar decrease can be observed in comparing the 1954 data with data for 1948.

There were a total of 109 major cities (located in 97 different Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas) for which a Central Business District analysis was prepared. Every one of the Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas showed an increase in retail store sales as compared with 1954. In the 109 Central Business Districts on the other hand, retail store sales decreased since 1954 in 50 districts, and only three—Allentown, Pa., Yonkers, N.Y., and Toledo, Ohio—had a percentage increase which exceeded that of the Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area in which they were located. Table J provides a frequency distribution of the percent change in retail store sales in the areas covered by this program. Chapter 6 of this volume contains data from a number of tabulations compiled in the Central Business District program. In addition to these tables there is a considerable amount of additional detailed information in the individual published reports in this series. The individual reports also contain data for about 470 major retail centers (outside of the CBD's) in the 97 Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas for which reports have been published. Major retail centers were defined by the Census Bureau as those concentrations of retail stores (located inside the Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas in which the CBD cities are located but outside of the CBD's themselves) which include a major general merchandise store—usually a department store. Data for motion picture theaters and hotels in 109 CBD's are published in Volume V, 1958 Census of Business, as well as in the individual CBD reports.

SALES SIZE (Tables in Chapter 2)

The tabulations analyzing data by sales size indicate that the 25,178 full-year establishments (for Census purposes an establishment is treated as full-year if it operated 10 or more months during the year and was in operation at the end of the year) having sales of $1,000,000 or more in 1958 reported sales of $58.6 billion, 29 percent of the total sales of all retail establishments. This compares with 18,969 establishments in this size class in 1954 with sales of $44.7 billion, accounting for 26 percent of total sales that year. (See figure 3 and table K). At the other end of the scale, the 221,869 full-year establishments with sales of less than $10,000 in 1958 accounted for less than 1 percent of the total. The "$1,000,000 or more" establishments are highly concentrated in a few kinds of business, with 74 percent of the total number in only three kinds of business. "Grocery stores, including delicatessens" with 10,332 of these establishments accounted for 41.0 percent of the establishments in the size class, followed by "passenger car dealers, franchised" with 6,230 establishments, or 24.7 percent, and department stores with 2,128, or 8.5 percent. In the 1954 Census these same three kinds of business also led in number of full-year establishments with sales of $1,000,000 or more. In the "department store" classification, 61 percent of the total number of stores in 1954 and 67 percent in 1958 had sales of "$1,000,000 or more." These stores accounted for 93 percent of all department store sales in 1954 and 95 percent in 1958.

EMPLOYMENT SIZE (Tables in Chapter 3)

The 1958 Census included 3,795 full-year establishments which reported 100 or more employees in the November pay period for which employment information was collected in the 1958 Census. As in the past, "department stores" led in the number of stores which had 100 or more employees, with 1,448. They were followed by "eating places" with 519; "limited price variety stores" with 388; and "passenger car dealers, franchised" with 283. Table L presents data by kind of business for establishments having 100 or more employees and also indicates the relative importance of these establishments.

SINGLE UNITS AND MULTIUNITS (Tables in Chapter 4)

In 1958, retail establishments of multiunit organizations accounted for 33.7 percent, or $67.2 billion, of the sales of all retail establishments as compared with the 30.1 percent, or $51.2 billion, which they accounted for in 1954. The average size of establishments of multiunit organizations was $367,796 as compared with $82,485 for all other establishments.

Table M shows the sales of establishments of two size classes of multiunit organizations for major kind of business groups and for selected kinds of business. Figure 4 illustrates the importance of single unit and multiunit operations in selected kinds of business.

Figure 4.—SALES OF SINGLE AND MULTIUNIT RETAIL STORES AS A PERCENT OF TOTAL SALES—SELECTED KINDS OF BUSINESS—UNITED STATES: 1958

LEGAL FORM OF ORGANIZATION (Tables in Chapter 5)

Of the total of 1,788,325 retail establishments included in the 1958 Census, 1,240,171, or 69.3 percent, were owned by individual proprietors. This compared with 1,203,831, or 69.9 percent, owned by individual proprietors in 1954. The next greatest number of establishments were owned by partnerships, followed by corporations. Despite the preponderance in number of establishments owned by individual proprietors and partnerships, the establishments of corporations, for the first time in any census, accounted for more than half of the sales by all retail establishments. In 1958, there were 277,805 establishments owned by corporations and these establishments made sales of $106.1 billion, or 53.1 percent of all retail establishment sales.

Figure 5 and tables N and P illustrate the importance of the various legal forms of ownership in total and for sales-size classes.

COMPARISONS OF RETAIL SALES—1958 CENSUS OF BUSINESS WITH MONTHLY RETAIL TRADE REPORT

The Bureau of the Census derives estimates of retail sales by means of a monthly sample survey as well as by measuring such sales at 5-year intervals in the Census of Business. For the year 1958 the sum of the 12 monthly measures derived from the sample survey and published in the Bureau's Monthly Retail Trade Report was within 0.4 percent of the census total; however, for some of the kind-of-business groups and individual kinds of business which comprise the field of retail trade there were substantial differences between the figures from these two sources. These differences exceeded the differences which might have been expected to arise because the monthly measures were based on a sample and subject to sampling variability.

In table Q, the absolute difference between the census figures and the sum of the monthly estimates for 1958 are shown in the third column and those differences, expressed as a percent of the monthly estimates, are shown in the fourth column. Because the estimates from the monthly survey are based on a sample, they are subject to sampling error and therefore so are the percent differences which result from comparison of such estimates with the census figures. The expected sampling error is such that only rarely would the column 4 differences, if solely due to sampling, fall outside the range shown by the column 5 figures, if repeated independent samples were drawn in accordance with the monthly sample survey design. Therefore, it is very probable that factors other than sampling error were at least partially responsible for differences in column 4 which are outside the range shown in column 5. Either sampling error or factors other than sampling could have been the cause of part or all of the difference when the column 4 difference is within the column 5 range.

While the existence of a number of the reasons for differences had been known, some of which are inherent in the difference in methodology and procedures of these two surveys, the Bureau concluded that a comprehensive program of identification and measurement of causes of difference would be beneficial to users of census data in interpreting the two sets of data and might make it possible for the Bureau to avoid or minimize certain types of difference in the future. From the analysis of differences which already has been made, it is possible to indicate the main causes and in a few instances to provide rough measures of magnitude. When the analysis program is completed, it is planned to issue a report of findings providing a more comprehensive account of the factors which occasioned the differences.

Apart from sampling error and apart from human errors which may occur in the operation both of the monthly survey and the census, there are three major causes of difference between the data from these two sources, as follows:

- (1) Differences in coverage.
- (2) Differences in kind-of-business classification.
- (3) Differences in reported and tabulated sales.

Some of these differences arise out of differences in methods and procedures required to achieve the objectives of the two programs at minimum cost. The monthly survey primarily exists to provide timely monthly national estimates of sales volume for total retail trade and for the major kinds of business in retail trade, whereas the census, at 5-year intervals, provides in much greater kind-of-business detail figures on sales and on additional subjects for a variety of small geographic areas as well as the broader areas of the Nation. To achieve the objectives at minimum cost, the monthly survey is conducted as a sample operation, in part based on a mail canvass of a preidentified list of large firms and establishments but in greater part based on a field enumerator canvass of selected land segments. The Census, on the other hand, does not use a field enumeration type of canvass and does not rely on sampling except as mentioned in the next paragraph.

The use of a field enumeration procedure in the monthly survey stems largely from the difficulties that are inherent in maintaining an up-to-date listing of businesses. For the Census, which is an operation conducted after the end of the year, the timing problem is less acute and it becomes feasible to develop a mailing list from administrative records. In the census, coverage is provided at much smaller cost than would be required for field enumeration by conducting a mail canvass of "employers," i.e., those businesses which in the records of the Internal Revenue Service were identified as having made or having been subject to tax payments under the Social Security system. For the coverage of "nonemployers"—businesses without paid employment, which in 1958 accounted for about 6 percent of retail volume—the census used a 50-percent sample of the business schedules of the Federal Income Tax forms in lieu of a census canvass.

Both the census and the monthly survey have been subject to certain coverage limitations as a consequence of the methodology used. In the case of the monthly survey, the enumerator canvass basically has been a canvass of places recognizable to the enumerators as business establishments. "Nonrecognizable" types are most frequently found in what the census classified as the "nonstore" type of operation—i.e., "house-to-house," "mail-order," and "vending-machine operator" businesses. Large establishments and firms in the "nonstore" category were canvassed by mail in the monthly survey on the basis of their identification in the last previous census so that under-coverage in the monthly survey is restricted to that arising from limitations in the identification of "nonrecognizable" businesses in the survey's field canvass.

The Census method of canvass, on the other hand, was subject to different coverage limitations. The mail canvass of employers was limited to those businesses which in the administration records of the Social Security system were classified as being within the scope of the Economic Censuses (i.e., in Mineral Industries, Manufacturing, Wholesale Trade, Retail Trade, and Selected Services). While there is a feedback to the Social Security system records of kind-of-business classifications derived from the Economic Censuses, there is no chance of coverage of businesses which had been designated as outside of census scope, except to the extent that occasional refiling operations in the Social Security system to up-date kind-of-business classification identify additional businesses within the scope of the censuses. The census also to a minor degree did not cover some "late births"—new establishments, usually those started late in the census year—which were not promptly included in the Internal Revenue Service records because of late filing of their initial Social Security report. Late filing of the Federal Income tax also caused a small undercoverage of "nonemployer" businesses as the business schedule of the tax return is the basis for Census coverage of such businesses. Additionally, undercoverage resulted to the extent that the operators of some businesses did not file a business sched-

¹Nonstore establishments included in the monthly survey are tabulated with the conventional "store" type establishments in accordance with the merchandise mix of their sales except mail-order houses, department store merchandise.

²Represents three times the standard deviation of differences expressed as percent of monthly survey figures.

³Sales of mail-order houses, department store merchandise is subtracted from the published current estimate of "general merchandise group" and included under "nonstores" in this table.

⁶"Antique stores" have been included in the "other retail stores" group in this table but were included in the "furniture, household appliance" group in the regular publications of the monthly survey, and "music stores" have been included with the "furniture, household appliance" group in this table but were included in the "other retail stores" group in the regular publications of the monthly survey.

COMPARISONS OF RETAIL SALES—1958 CENSUS WITH MONTHLY REPORT

ule and their existence therefore was for census purposes unknown, or they filed no tax return at all (e.g., cases which did not develop a tax liability).

It is very difficult to arrive at a good measure of undercoverage in either the census or monthly operation because such measurements are largely dependent on matching operations which are extremely difficult to carry through. While it would appear possible that each could have missed two to three percent of retail volume, due to the factors discussed above, nevertheless there are other factors which may have led to some overstatement so that it is not clear at this stage of the analysis how much net undercoverage in the total volume did result. In this connection it should be noted that the extent to which the census and monthly survey included establishments which should have been classified as outside the retail scope or excluded establishments which should have been included inside the retail scope have not been determined (see further discussion below).

Differences in kind-of-business classification probably were the most frequent source of census-monthly survey differences, despite the fact that generally the kind-of-business definitions used were similar. These differences in part reflect difficulties in obtaining identical answers to inquiries on which kind-of-business classification is based and in assigning such classifications. In part, differences could arise because the 1954 kind-of-business classifications generally were used for that part of the monthly survey sample which was derived from the most recent census, i.e., multiunit firms which operated 11 or more establishments at the time of the 1954 Census (called Group II firms in the monthly survey) and also large establishments of other firms. Thus, any changes in kind-of-business classification introduced by the 1958 Census were not reflected in the monthly survey's classifications of this panel.

Although the commodity inquiries in the Census mail canvass were for the most part similar to the inquiries made by enumerators in the field canvass part of the monthly survey, the Census classification for "nonemployers" was based only on the brief kind-of-business description on the business schedule of the tax form. Because the descriptions frequently lacked sufficient detail, the Census had to abandon detailed kind-of-business classifications within some major groups (e.g., apparel, general merchandise groups) and classified only at the major group level. It should be noted that because in general the share of total retail dollar volume done by "nonemployers" is rather small, their classification problems would not be expected to explain a large part of the difference between census and monthly survey kind-of-business figures as shown in table Q.

An important source of classification differences arises from the fact that the Census identified and tabulated separately a category designated as "nonstores," i.e., those establishments in "mail-order," "house-to-house," and "vending-machine operator" businesses. While some of the "nonstore" establishments had no representation in the monthly survey because they were "nonrecognizable" (see page 19 above), to the extent "nonstores" were covered by the monthly survey, they were, unlike the Census, classified and tabulated along with the conventional "store" type of establishment in accordance with the merchandise mix of their sales. While between 1 to 2 percent of retail sales in the monthly survey consist of establishments which in the Census would be classified as "nonstores," about half of the amount is for the category in the monthly survey's "general merchandise" group, which is identified as "mail-order houses (department store merchandise)." The other principal groups in the monthly survey including "nonstore" types are the "food" group with about $700 million, the "furniture" group, $300 million, and "other retail," $500 million.

Differences in kind-of-business classifications between the census and monthly survey either were of a type in which (a) an establishment was assigned different classifications within the field of retail trade, or (b) an establishment classified within retail trade in the one program was classified in the other program as outside retail trade and into one of the other fields covered by the Economic Censuses (e.g., manufacturing, wholesale trade, service trades). This latter type of difference of course could affect the combined retail trades total as well as comparisons of individual kinds of business in the two surveys. A reliable estimate of the effect of this type of difference is not available, principally because of the large sampling error involved in measuring it. However, it appears that in the monthly survey there was some excess in the dollar volume for establishments included as "retail" but which were classified in nonretail industries in the Economic Censuses, as compared with the dollar volume for the reverse type (retail in the census, outside of retail in the monthly survey). Possibly this monthly survey excess is related to the lag in reclassifying the administrative records used as a source of the Economic Censuses mailing list (see page 19 above).

To some extent, differences in classification between the two programs tend to be offsetting. However, for some kinds of business these differences are significant and can be measured adequately in the Bureau's analytical study. In the case of "meat markets" a less restrictive census definition, which required meat to constitute only 50 rather than 80 percent of total sales, led to a relative overclassification into this kind of business of establishments which in the monthly survey were classified as "grocery stores." Most of the census-monthly survey difference in the meat-market figures (about $700 million) can be attributed to this definitional difference.

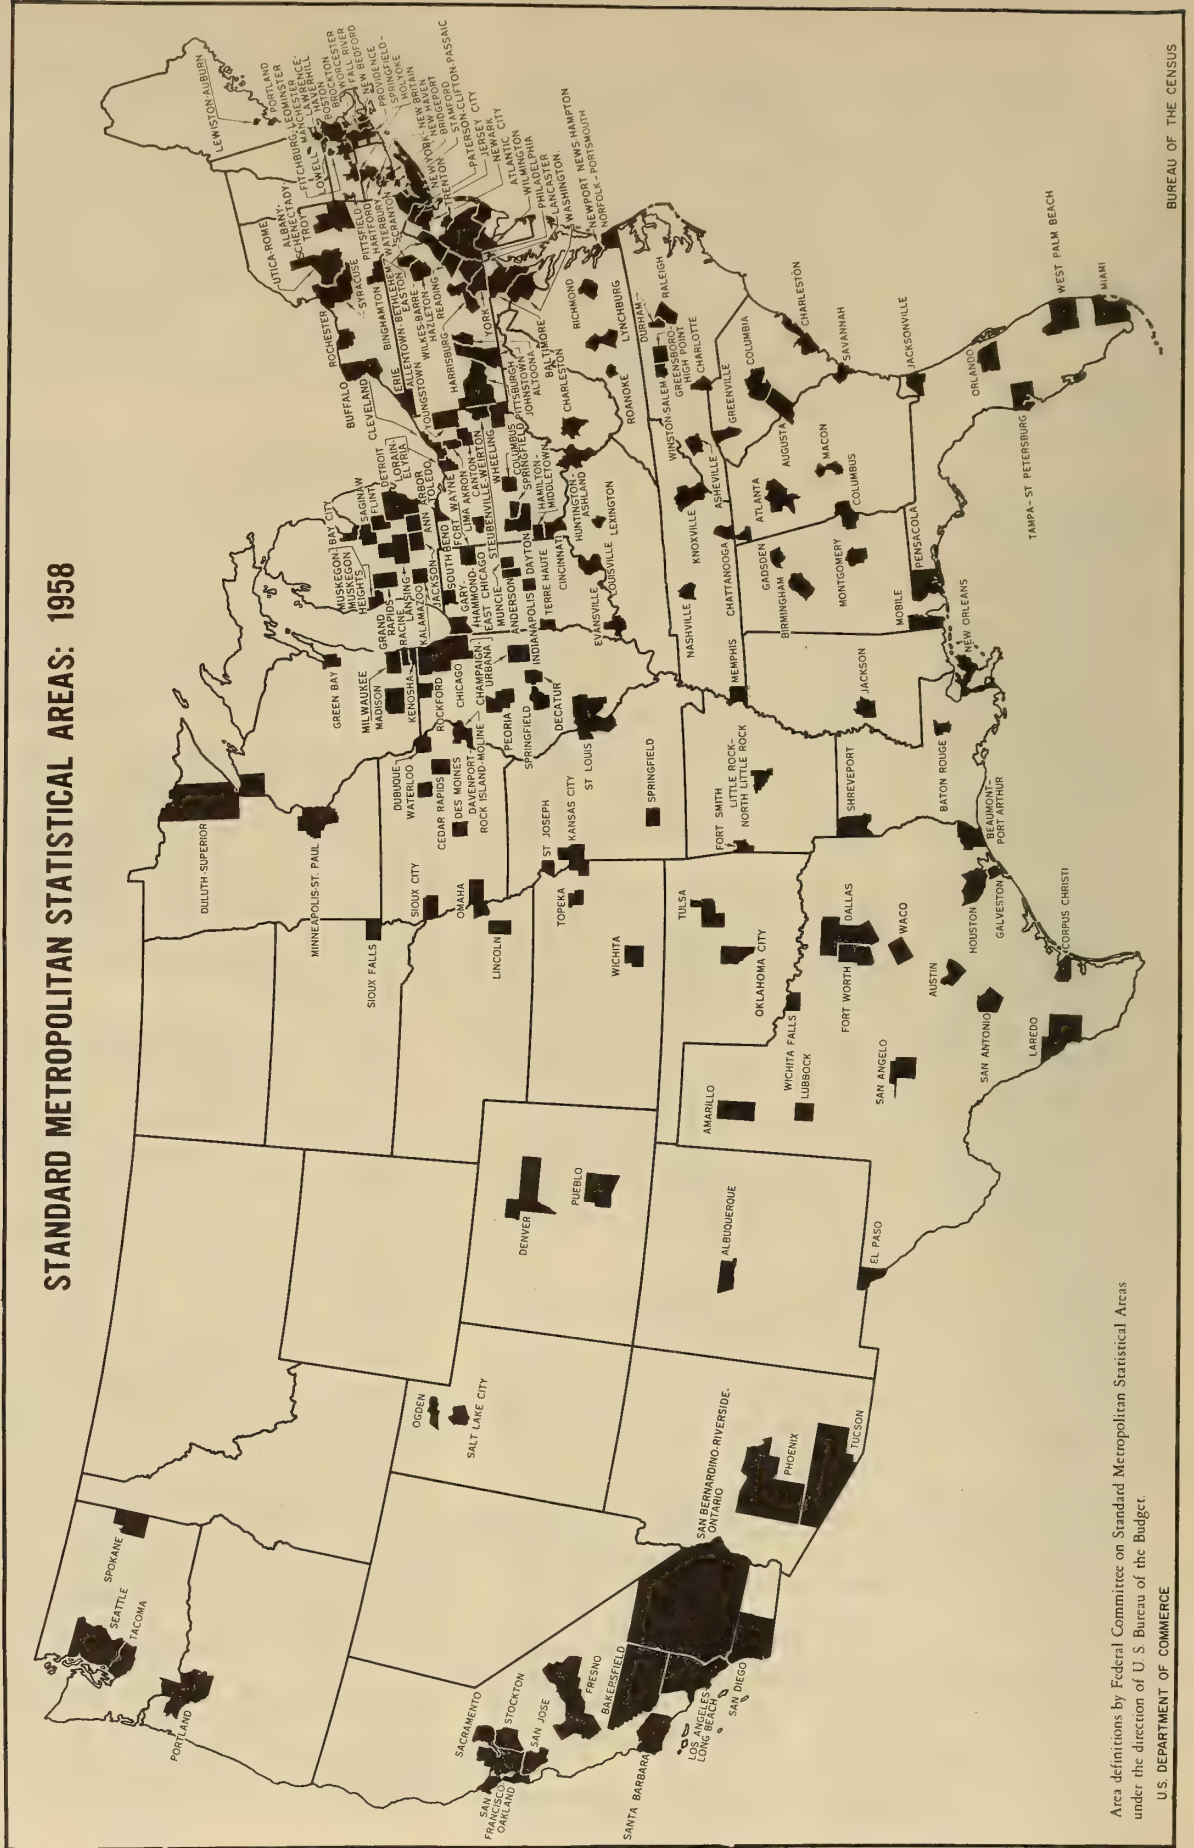

Classification differences, though not clearly attributable to definitional differences, have been established as responsible for an important part of the excess (about $500 million) in the census, relative to the monthly survey, in "eating places" and of the deficit in "drinking places," as well as about $300 million excess in the census in "other general merchandise" for establishments classified as "grocery stores" in the monthly survey. These differences occurred in the class of establishments which in the monthly survey exclude the large multiunit firms (Group II).

Some differences between the census and the monthly survey resulted from differences in the sales figures reported by identical firms in the two surveys. Although "sales" are defined in the same way, differences in the records which businesses used in preparing their reports for the two surveys probably led to some of the sales discrepancy. In the monthly survey, the records used by some firms were not as likely to permit such items as sales taxes, income from carrying charges and service charges, and offsets to sales for merchandise returned to be reflected as accurately as was feasible from the records available for census reporting. In comparing reported sales for the large firms (designated as Group II in the monthly survey), for retail trade outside the general merchandise group there was only a small difference, but for the "general merchandise" group there was a difference amounting to roughly $0.6 billion, or 5 percent of Group II sales volume, with the bulk of a difference ($0.4 billion) in the "department store" category. It should be observed that an additional part of the census-monthly survey difference for the general merchandise group and for department stores is a result of the retention in the monthly survey of 1954 Census classifications for large firms. This factor accounted for about a quarter of a billion deficiency in the monthly survey "general merchandise" total (relative to the census) of which less than $100 million was in department stores.

The program for analysis of census-monthly survey differences, when completed, is expected to provide more precise measurements for the factors described in this discussion, as well as to identify other factors causing differences which are apparent in table Q but not referred to here.

¹Defined here as the general merchandise group exclusive of department stores and variety stores.

RETAIL TRADE-SUMMARY STATISTICS

The establishments covered in the table which follows are those operated by the Department of Defense on military installations of the Departments of the Army, Navy, Air Forces, and the Marine Corps in the conterminous United States for the use of military personnel and their dependents.

The establishments are of three types:

1. Commissaries—handling mostly food and grocery items for off-premises consumption.

2. Exchanges—known as "PX's" or "Ships Stores", dispensing a large variety of consumer goods other than food.

3. Eating and drinking places—not including mess halls or other facilities operated by the military establishments for the serving of regular, daily meals to military personnel.

They are manned, for the most part, by civilian personnel but these are supplemented in some cases by military help. However, the employment and payroll data in this table are for civilian employment only.

Table 12.—COMMISSARIES, EXCHANGES, AND EATING AND DRINKING PLACES OPERATED FOR MILITARY PERSONNEL BY THE U. S. DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE: 1958

Standard Notes:

... Represents zero. (D) Withheld to avoid disclosure. (NA) Not available.

*Nonstore retailers, part of SIC major group 53, are shown separately in this table.

Data for this kind of business include only establishments with payroll. Establishments without payroll, if any, are included at the next broader kind-of-business level.

May include data for establishments with no payroll which could not be classified into detailed kinds of business within the group.

①Indicates subtotal.

②Data on this line are for all part-year enterprises. Data for those part-year enterprises which were in business at the end of the Census year (which are the only part-year enterprises included in the count of establishments in Census tabulations) are shown on the following line.
